

Little Bear Learns To Fly

by Joan Martin

Inspired by the artwork of Jennifer Purvis

Special thanks to Elizabeth Stephenson for editing advice and encouragement and to Federico Chavez Seminario for graphic design.

Copyright 2010 by Joan Martin

"Hello," said Big Bear. "Let's go for a ride.
If you want to go flying, come sit by my side."

Little Bear knew his wish would come true, so he snuggled beside her and up they flew.

"Look, Little Bear! Look what we've found... some high-flying friends from the merry-go-round.

If you ask each one for a special clue,
they'll help you discover how you can fly too."

"Excuse me, Ms. Hippo, would you tell us please, how someone so huge can fly with such ease?"

"A pleasure, my dears, so simple but true.
I do what I love and love what I do.

When I feel the excitement and thrill of each day,
I get quivers and shivers and I'm carried away!"